CUSTOM PUBLISHING / CONTENT MARKETING

Custom publishing is a form of marketing that involves an editorial product. The content of that editorial supports the marketing and communication objectives of the underwriter. Content marketing is one of the fastest growing forms of marketing and is one of the most significant growth sectors of publishing today. It's a preferred method for more sophisticated marketers to reach a desired and defined target audience.

Custom publishing / Content marketing differs from advertorial in that the content is not a one-sided, ad-based message. Rather, a sponsored article that delivers the unique opportunity to deliver a relevant, engaging message to executives in a manner that will deliver credible information to the reader and accountability to your marketing investment.
